

MIAMI, Aug. 27.—UP—Taking with her visions of the California gold rush in '49, Mrs. Luz Martinez, 116-years old, died here today. Mrs. Martinez, born in old Mexico in 1814, had what she termed two outstanding thrills in her life. They were her participation in the '49 gold rush, and the bobbing of her hair last Monday.

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Now that the election is over, some of our "sure guys" in Richmond are paying off their election bets.

And you can tell those who won and those who lost—just take a look at their faces.

And Tuesday night must have been an exciting night for the telephone operators.

Between eight o'clock in the evening and three o'clock Wednesday morning there were over 1,000 telephone calls turned into the RECORD-HERALD office, asking about election results.

And then yesterday morning when the office opened, the telephone calls started again.

But now that the primary election is over, we can settle down to work—and won't have to listen to some of these politicians who stop you on the streets and talk politics for half an hour.

We wonder how far this investigation of the Max Baer, Campbell tragedy will go.

Probably it will end with the coroner's jury investigation.

But at the same time, one never can tell.

The whole episode has aroused widespread public indignation.

The Hearst sheets, which started a campaign against boxing several years ago, will harp upon the subject for some time to come.

And their best sob sister will continue to write her slush... about prize fighters and fighting.

But there is a lot of truth to the propaganda. Prize fighting is a brutal game.

And when one matches two husky young animals, fighting for a mythical title and a purse, anything will happen.

And when a referee is in the ring, whose main interest is to see that the customers "get their money's worth" well...

WILSON, VEALE ARE VICTORS

Voters of Contra Costa county returned Sheriff R. R. Veale and Coroner Aubrey Wilson victors in Tuesday's election, according to a check made yesterday of the votes cast.

Wilson defeated his opponent, Dr. A. B. Hinkley by a margin of 2600 votes. Wilson polled 11,004 while Hinkley got 8434.

In the sheriff's race, Veale received 14,146 votes while Strom trailed him with 6809.

The entire county went Royal. 8021 votes being cast for the mayor of San Francisco. Young was second with 6488 votes while Byron Fitts, district attorney of Los Angeles county was third with 2522 votes.

A tabulation of the returns from this county will be found in another column of this paper.

High School Bonfire Wood Up In Smoke

More than a score of high school pupils—mostly boys—stood around a beautiful big bonfire near the high school late last night and groaned—and moaned at times.

Sad eyed sophomores, who had worked and worked for more than a week gathering wood said nothing, but thought a good deal.

Motorists halted their cars, learned what the conflagration was all about, and laughed.

But it was no laughing matter for the local high school pupils.

No, sir... some one with a sense of humor—or someone who will root for Tech high Friday afternoon had touched off the pyramid of wood that was to be burned at the high school pep rally tonight.

Navy Pilot, Spectator, Killed At Chicago Air Meet OFFICER LIGON SUFFERS ATTACK

BAD CHECK SUSPECT ESCAPES

Patrolman Smith W. Ligon is in the Cottage hospital, suffering from a heart attack that struck him while he was holding a bad check suspect at Twenty-third street and Macdonald avenue yesterday afternoon.

The suspect escaped before Ligon recovered consciousness and another police officer who had been informed of the arrest could reach the scene.

Ligon was able to drive himself to the Abbott Emergency hospital for treatment.

At Hospital

He was later removed to the Cottage hospital, where his condition is said to be serious.

Ligon was not working yesterday, it being his day off. While going down town he came face to face with a man whom he knew was wanted for questioning by local police in regards to the passing of a number of alleged bad checks here.

Ligon placed the man under arrest and called the police station from the police box at Twenty-third street. Inspector Oliver Wylie was sent to bring the prisoner to the police station.

While Ligon was waiting at the corner with his prisoner, he was suddenly stricken by an attack. He collapsed.

Suspect Escapes

When he regained consciousness a few seconds later, the suspect had disappeared.

Ligon was able, with a great effort, to drive himself to the Abbott hospital where he was examined by Dr. L. A. Hedges. He was later removed to the Cottage hospital.

At an early hour this morning Ligon was reported to be "resting comfortably."

Police are now searching for the bad check suspect.

POLICE HUNT OAKLAND GIRL

OAKLAND, Aug. 27.—Statewide search for Cleo Lewis, 18, who has been missing from her grandmother's home in Santa Clara since a week ago last Monday, has been started.

On that date Miss Lewis told her grandmother she was going to her father, J. H. Lewis, of Walnut Creek, who was ill with a heart attack.

Since that time she has dropped completely out of sight, leaving no clue as to her disappearance.

Relatives told police here today that they feared she might have been kidnapped, as her cousin, Minnie Belrose, 15 of San Jose, was kidnapped by two youths just a few days before Miss Lewis' disappearance. She was located later near Los Angeles.

John Moore Thanks Voters

TO THE VOTERS OF THE CITY OF RICHMOND AND THE FIFTEENTH TOWNSHIP:

I take this opportunity of expressing to the voters of the Fifteenth Township my appreciation for the generous support they gave me at the Primary election.

I also wish to thank my many friends whose untiring efforts in my behalf made it possible for me to qualify as a candidate at the general election in November; and I hope at that time to receive again the support of the Richmond voters.

JOHN MOORE,
Candidate for Justice of the Peace.

THE WEATHER

Fair but with fog Thursday and Friday; moderate temperature; moderate west wind.

Strom Thanks Voters Of County

To the Voters of the County:

Although unsuccessful in my candidacy for the office of sheriff of Contra Costa county, I wish to take this opportunity to thank the hundreds in all sections, who unselfishly and without remuneration devoted their time and efforts in my behalf. Words cannot express the appreciation I feel to my many friends.

(Signed) J. P. STROM, 249.

Grover, Soito In November Election

The race for justice of the peace of San Pablo will be contested between Justice of the Peace L. F. Grover and Henry C. Soito in the November election.

Grover gained a total of 325 votes in Tuesday's election, with Soito winning 235 votes. A total of 120 votes was collected by Peter Garritty.

M. G. Molitoza was re-elected to the office of constable of San Pablo with a total of 473 votes. W. H. Verbisio finished second with 249.

THOUSANDS SEE PLANE CRASH

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—UP—A tragedy in which a crack navy pilot sacrificed his life to avert an even greater tragedy, disrupted the naval air races today.

Only the aviator, Lieut. J. P. Deshazo, and one spectator, Louis Weiner, were killed, thanks to Deshazo's deft maneuvering of his plane before it carried him to his death. Seventeen persons including five women were injured slightly.

The stands were packed with air enthusiasts, watching completion of the most spectacular speed event of the day, a race in which Deshazo and 16 fellow navy pursuit fliers hurtled around the five mile race course at speeds of better than 150 miles an hour.

Ship Falls

At the end of the race, Deshazo attempted to climb his tiny Boeing plane, equipped with a super-charger, and start a slow roll. The ship, caught in the backwash of wind from the planes ahead flipped over and plunged down.

The crowd below the plummeting ship sat stupefied, but Deshazo, known as one of the navy's best pilots, kept his mind on saving as many lives as possible, without thought of his own. Instead of flattening out over the stands where he possibly could have saved his own life, he edged his ship to the open field.

It bounced on its left wing with a sickening thud only a few feet in front of the stands, and turned over on its nose.

The spectators swarmed out on the field, fought off attendants and crowded about the plane until suddenly its gasoline tanks exploded and sent flames shooting 20 feet into the air.

The crowd drew back, ambulances and fire trucks clanged up, and officials pulled Deshazo from the ship. He died enroute to a hospital.

Smiley Wins Constable Post

Complete returns from the 42 Richmond precincts yesterday afternoon showed that Justice of the Peace A. A. Alstrom and John Moore qualified for the November election.

At the same time Constable J. W. Smiley was returned to office by a large vote over his three opponents.

Although Alstrom led throughout the election, he failed to get more votes than his two opponents. He polled 2392, compared to Moore's 1759, Police Judge C. A. Odell, third in the triangular fight, polled 1194.

As a result, Alstrom and Moore will "fight it out" at the general election.

In the constables' fight Smiley led his three opponents with a total vote of 3214. H. Stearns was second with 1021 votes; Miller was third with 922 and Peterson trailed fourth with 215.

Youth Arraigned On Motor Charges

Charged with driving a motor vehicle without the owners consent Phillip Borbora of San Pablo was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Arthur Alstrom yesterday and was remanded to the custody of the sheriff.

Basil Thompson of Oakland swore out the warrant for Borbora's arrest, charging that Bor

DOCTOR F. KENT HEADS BOAT CLUB

Dr. Francis Kent, driver of the famous "Lur Alyse," was elected commodore of the Richmond Boating association at a recent meeting of the club.

C. E. Marshall was named vice-commodore of the organization, while William Thompson was chosen for the post of rear-commodore. Gordon Perrault was elected to the position of secretary-treasurer.

The board of directors was also named at the meeting of the club. The directors for the coming term are: Rex Myers, Edward Hoffman, Charles Engle, and George Landtzen.

It was announced at the meeting that the Richmond Boating association will hold its next outboard regatta Sept. 21 and 22 in the local inner harbor.

This week's meeting marked the end of the first six months of the Richmond Boating association's career. Sensational progress has taken place during that half year.

The membership of the club has increased from but a few boating enthusiasts to almost 50, and this membership is expected to increase to 75 by the end of the year.

During the first six months of the club's existence, two outboard regattas have been held on the local inner harbor under the auspices of the Richmond Boating club. Both racing events have attracted thousands of spectators and scores of outboard drivers from all sections of northern California. Remarkable times were set in both local meets.

The local harbor has been highly praised by visiting officials of the Northern California Outboard association in view of the facilities it offers for fast, unhampered outboard racing. The local club has received the official recognition of the Northern California Outboard association, and, in conjunction with the larger organization, the local boating club should make outboard motor racing one of the most popular sports in this county.

Moitoza Fords To Meet Elks Nine Sunday

The Moitoza Fords will have as their rivals in next Sunday's competition the colored Elks' nine of Oakland. The game is scheduled to start on the San Pablo diamond at 2:30 o'clock.

Syd Martin will occupy the box for the Fords on Sunday as usual. However, Anthony Moitoza, the other half of the local battery, will probably be unable to play against the colored Elks because of an injury to his thumb received in last Sunday's contest. Charley Schwake may substitute for Moitoza Sunday.

The Fords have met with unexpected success on eastbay diamonds this year, having yet to meet their first defeat of the season. They have become important figures on the ball fields of Richmond.

Godiva Theft Ires Coventry

COVENTRY, Eng. —UP— Someone is trying to filch Lady Godiva and the folks here are mighty angry.

Years ago, so the story goes, the fair damsel clad only in long tresses, rode a white horse through the streets of this country village to free the citizens from debt.

Coventry, it must be remembered, takes her heroes and heroines seriously as well as conservatively. So they celebrate her memory every 10 years or so.

All was well until last year, Dailay, a neighboring town, held a Godiva procession declaring the comely rider once owned property there.

The good people here gasped. Now it is announced Shrewsbury and Manchester also will have Godiva processions this summer.

Their reasons, if any, are not known.

"Inimination may be the sincerest form of flattery, but surely these towns have some historical episode which they could reproduce," said H. Keith Moulton, secretary of the Coventry Hospital Carnival committee, which arranged the last Godiva celebration here.

Six Legged Frog Found In L. A.

LOS ANGELES.—Fours are "going out" among frogs as well as in the automotive field, according to owners of "Ethelbert" a frog discovered in the Los Angeles river bed.

His six legs give him tremendous acceleration and his owners believe that he can break the records of Mark Twain's jumping frog of Calaveras county.

Ethelbert prefers to make long hops on four legs but when nearing the finishing line he puts all six into "gear" and outdistances all rivals by leaps and bounds.

GRID RALLY TO BE HELD AT HIGH

Football will make its influence felt even on Macdonald avenue this evening when the routers of Richmond Union High school serpentine down the avenue on their way to the football rally held annually on the eve of each game with Oakland Technical High school.

The supporters of the Red and Blue will line up at sixth street and Macdonald at seven o'clock, and will serpentine to the Fox California theater, in front of which they will present their school yells.

They will then make their way to the high school, where a rally will be held in the boys' gymnasium. Pep talks by coaches Phil Hempler and Frank Ribbel and the gridders who will play the following day will be given. Yells will be led by yell leaders Herman Jaffa, Bill Young, and Albert Schneider, and the high school band will play under the direction of George Morris.

After the rally, the huge bonfire and boxes and barrels collected by the sophomore class will be lighted, concluding the pre-game festivities.

St. Louis Plans Ban On Noise

ST. LOUIS.—UP—"Rags, bottles, old iron," the time-honored cry of the junkman as he drives his cart up and down the alleys; the "extray" of the huckster as his vegetable-laden truck passes by, even the bell of the ice cream man's pushcart, may become a thing of the past here.

An ordinance is being considered by the Board of Aldermen prohibiting all unnecessary noises. Even trucks must be so loaded that their contents will not bang as the vehicles pass over rough pavements. Between 10 o'clock in the evening and 7 o'clock in the morning the din of construction would be prohibited. Pile drivers, steam shovels, pneumatic hammers, steam and electric hoists will be compelled to cease operation if the ordinance is passed.

Net Challenge Is Issued By Sutton Bros.

Jimmy Hurley and Phil Carlin, highest ranking doubles in the Richmond Tennis association's ladder tournament, have been challenged to a title match by Dardow and Irwin Sutton.

The title contest will be held Saturday afternoon on the Point Richmond courts.

The Sutton brothers are reckoned upon to present the title holders with a hard battle and this contest should be worth the watching.

SENATORS WIN
PORTLAND, Aug. 27.—UP—The Sacramento Senators evened their series with the Portland Beavers by taking a close game from the Beavers, 4 to 3, here tonight.

The Beavers took the lead in the fourth inning by scoring two runs. The Senators made one in the sixth two more in the seventh and crossed the plate once in the eighth for their final tally.

HIGH GRIDDERS WILL MEET TECH

That they will be able to cook "Tech's" well-known goose tomorrow is the belief of the Richmond Union high school gridders.

The fowl is liable to be rather tough and will probably take plenty of roasting before it becomes palatable for the local pigskin boosters. However, the Red and Blue athletes are firm in their belief that they will succeed in devouring the goose of the Oakland Technical high school eleven.

During this attempt, there should be large quantities of feathers flying on the Richmond Union high school ground, and preliminary reports state that there will be a record grandstand present to witness the procedure.

Richmond gridders are primed for their first battle of the 1930 football season.

The local coaches, Phil Hempler and Frank Ribbel, are not prepared to pass judgement upon their proteges at present. Hempler is planning to ascertain the true worth of his varsity squad in tomorrow's game and is expected to give practically all his material a chance to display its skill in a real battle.

A clever backfield and an extra heavy line are the factors that are expected to give Richmond Union high school superiority in their clash with "Tech."

Among Richmond's chief assets in the backfield are Mike Broock, Leslie Scarsella, Ed Masek, Jack Stoddard, Woodrow Snodgrass, Bob Miller, Merle Baskett and George Miller.

In the line, plenty of speed and strength and stamina is expected to make its appearance tomorrow.

In the line are such bulwarks as Emerie Baxter, "Big Benny" Hoefler, Dave Lill, Louis Ball, Gerletti, Ray Juillerat and Clarence Hall.

The line has been making progress under the coaching of Phil Hempler. Ribbel has been whipping the backfield into shape for tomorrow's big scrimmage.

The old, old rivalry that has existed for many years between Richmond and "Tech" will be there in abundance on the local high school gridiron tomorrow, if pre-game sentiment can be relied upon. There also remains the 6 to 6 tie of last year's opener to be wiped out by either the home team or visitors at Richmond Union high school tomorrow afternoon.

Success in Saving Money Depends on Action

Everybody knows the wisdom and the value of saving money and nearly everybody means to save some time. The trouble with the most of us is that we promise ourselves that we will save in the future. We intend to save a part of our income. We have good intentions but put off action until we have spent our money for other things. But mere wishing and hoping are not enough. We must act.

The all important thing is to begin. Start a savings account today in one of the 95 conveniently located offices of the American Trust Company.

P. T. A. GROUP HAS INTERESTING MEETING HERE

An account of the work being done to educate handicapped children in Richmond and other cities of the state was given members of the Richmond P. T. A. council at a meeting in the Lincoln school yesterday afternoon by Mrs. J. H. Squire and Superintendent of Schools, Walter T. Helms.

Mrs. Squire, who is chairman of the district committee in charge of the work, and originator of the bill that was passed at a recent session of the legislature in regards to handicapped children, told of the work that is being done throughout the state to assist the blind, deaf and crippled school children.

Many cities are arranging to have educators travel to the homes of those children who are unable to attend schools, Mrs. Squire said.

Helms addressed the women on the same subject, declaring that under the direction of Mrs. Emily Axtell and Mrs. A. E. Willis, considerable progress has been made in the work in Richmond.

Helms also told the gathering that faculties of the Richmond schools were prepared to co-operate with the P. T. A. council in any line of work.

Mrs. Ward Campbell, first vice president of the district, delivered an interesting speech on Parliamentary law at the meeting, over which Mrs. James Pedrotti presided.

During the session Mrs. Gunnar Soderblum, past president, was presented with a life membership certificate.

At the close of the meeting, Miss Harriet Jack, chairman of the kindergarten committee and teacher at the San Pablo kindergarten, presented four of her pupils in a song, dance and drill program.

Announcement of a three act play to be presented some time this fall under the auspices of the council was made, and Mrs. Zeldia Chaplin was appointed chairman of the committee to make arrangements and direct the play.

The committee is composed of Mrs. R. F. Johnson, Mrs. Gunnar Soderblum, Mrs. E. J. Casselman and Mrs. E. D. Winters.

W. B. A. JUNIORS ENTERTAIN AT MEMORIAL HALL

The junior members of the W. B. A. were entertained by the seniors at a party in the Memorial hall last night.

Games were played under the direction of Mrs. Sadie Newford, and prizes were awarded the winners. The committee in charge of the banquet was composed of Mrs. Grace Schimpff, Mrs. Alice Scarlett and Mrs. Irene Smith.

Tomorrow night a number of local members are planning to attend the whist party sponsored by the Oakland lodge for a sick member.

According to an announcement last night tickets are selling fast for the hope chest, which is to be awarded Oct. 29 at a whist party sponsored by the lodge.

The chest is now on display at the Quality market.

Man Slays Wife, Self In Fight

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 27.—UP—The body of Mrs. Doris A. Vermillion, 40, was found in a rooming house today where she had been shot to death by her ex-husband, Ernest O. Vermillion, who later turned the gun upon himself and inflicted wounds from which he died at a hospital.

Police, who were called to the dwelling by neighbors who had heard three shots fired in rapid succession, found the woman's body near the door of her room. It appeared as if she had attempted to flee.

Vermillion was found on the floor with a wound in his head. He was rushed to a hospital, but died within a short time.

Irving G. Allen, attorney for Mrs. Vermillion in her recent divorce action reported that told him that her husband had threatened her life, had beaten her and was otherwise abusive.

The divorce was granted August 13.

B. P. W. Club Will Entertain With Dinner

At a recent Spanish dinner held in Alvarado park by the members of the Business and Professional Women's club, plans were made to attend a Chinese dinner to be given by the Oakland organization at Pekin Low's in Oakland Chinatown. A representative of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce will be an interesting speaker on the program. About twenty women from Richmond are planning to attend.

Miss Viljo Treanor was chairman of the picnic outing held last evening. The hostess committee was composed of Mrs. Lillian Heady, Mrs. Anita Furrer, Mrs. Jessie Spencer, Miss Emma Pearson and Miss Theresa Vernetti.

Novel games under the direction of Helen Kendall, local girl scout director and Miss Anna Mikelson, provided a jolly entertainment for the picnickers.

Delphian Group To Meet Friday

The first meeting of the Alpha Tau chapter of the Delphian society, which was organized during the summer will be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock August 29, in the Richmond clubhouse.

The charter was received last spring from Mrs. Irene Latham Goble, national director of the Delphian organization, who will direct the studies of the local chapter.

Officers have not yet been selected, but the course of study is well outlined and books have been secured in readiness for the coming term.

Miss Bengston Returns to City

After an eight week's visit in McPherson and Linsburg, Kansas, with relatives, Miss Marjorie Bengston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bengston of 420 Ninth street has returned to Richmond.

Inner Harbor Transportation To Be Improved

The chamber of commerce will make a study to improve transportation conditions to the inner harbor, following a meeting of the traffic committee, of which W. W. Scott is chairman, yesterday.

It was pointed out that from now on there will be increasing traffic to the L. L. Richmond terminal, the Ford plant and other industries and activities along the inner harbor, and that present bus service to those points will not be adequate. The present bus operates on an hourly basis for a stated number of trips during the day.

The matter was referred to the transportation committee for study as to what steps can be taken for an improvement of conditions. A. L. Paulsen is chairman of this committee.

Scott's committee reported that it has under consideration many problems having a bearing on rail and water problems, and that it is anticipated that several lines not now making Richmond a point of call will in the near future place the city on their list of ports.

Chicago Struck By New Heat Wave

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—UP—A new heat wave, one of the last of the summer, swept the middle west today.

Temperatures rose from 23 degrees in eight hours to 90 in Chicago and even higher further south.

The weather bureau said thermometer readings, however, would sink again tomorrow and that possibly no more heat waves would visit the area this year.

Rankin Brothers In Air 34 Hours

PORTLAND, Aug. 27.—UP—An announced "test flight" that turned into an official assault on the world's record was still in progress tonight as the Rankin brothers, Tex and Dick, passed their 34th hour in the air at 6:45 p. m.

The present attempt at the record is the fourth to be made by the Rankins in their orange and yellow biplane. On to Oregon.

U. S. Tracksters Defeat British

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—UP—United States athletes defeated a large group representing the British Empire in a track and field meet before 37,500 fans tonight.

The final point score was: United States nine, British Empire five.

Eight meet records, including two American standards were shattered.

Captain Drowns With Sinking Ship

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—UP—The Clyde Mallory line freighter Neches, sank in Lower New York bay late tonight after colliding with a barge.

Capt. Astes was said to have gone down with his ship. The 26 members of his crew were saved by a police department boat. The captain was reported to have been injured in the crash and unable to make his escape.

FRANCE SEEKS SUPREMACY OF AIR

PARIS.—UP—On the heels of the Italian decision to participate in the 1931 Schneider Cup competition comes the plaintive French wail, periodically familiar, that the pristine glory of French aviation demands France's participation in the greatest of aerial speed tests.

The victory of the British aces in the 1930 Schneider Cup over their tenacious Italian opponents was not the result of good fortune, but of long and patient study in mechanical construction, in the opinion of French aeronautic experts; such gruelling competition to cap months of intensive preparations would be the very tonic needed to stir the French aviation industry out of its present sluggish condition, says the bustling and modernized Parisian daily, L'intransigent.

"Let us ask for no more world records for awhile, and settle down to the task of improving and perfecting the technique of our engineers and builders of aerial craft and motors," declares the paper editorially.

Commenting on the recent flights of Diademonte Costes, L'intransigent praises the skill and sang-froid of the famous endurance ace, and commends the policy of promoting such long-distance flights as the first stage in regaining aerial prestige for the French nation. From now on, however, it is pointed out that progress must be sought along different lines—those of mechanical construction.

Stolen Meat Found In Bed

YUMA, Colo.—Officers here had to hide their modesty and search a bed in which Mrs. Richard Stiles was lying. Evidence of a stolen calf was traced to a ranch house of Richard Stiles, but authorities found no trace of meat in the building. As a last effort they decided to search the bed in which Mrs. Stiles was lying. They reported finding two quarters of a calf in the bed.

Fox Movie Studio Hit By Big Fire

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 27.—UP—A fire broke out in the Fox film studios at Sunset and Western Boulevards tonight and burned props and scenery valued between $5,000 and $10,000.

The flames started in a paint shop on the lot and burning oils and paints caused a brilliant glare which shot into the sky and brought a huge crowd to the neighborhood of the studio completely blocking traffic for more than an hour.

C.C. COUNTY GOT LESS FOR PUPILS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—Twelve California counties played Santa Claus to the rest of the state in 1928 to the extent of $588,822.11 in the apportionment of state school funds, according to a survey just completed by California Taxpayers' association of state school aid distribution for 1927-28, the last year for which reports are published. The survey shows wide discrepancies in the receipts per child.

The state apportions to the state school fund $30 per child in average daily attendance in the state during the next preceding year. This fund is then apportioned to the counties on the basis of $700 for each teacher unit in the county, the number of teachers being ascertained by calculating one teacher for the first thirty-five or less number of pupils in average daily attendance in each district and one additional teacher for each additional thirty-five pupils or fraction thereof in average daily attendance during the next preceding school year. The county then apportions to each district $1400 for each teacher allowed to the district, $700 of the $1400 coming from the state school fund and the additional amount coming from county funds. This distribution, therefore, is not made solely on the pupil basis, about 82 percent being apportioned on the teacher unit basis. Thus counties with large numbers of small districts where teacher units are small receive a greater amount of state aid than they are equitably entitled to.

The twelve counties that received less than $30 per pupil were: Alameda, Contra Costa, Fresno, Los Angeles, Orange, Sacramento, San Bernardino, San Diego, San Francisco, San Joaquin, San Mateo and Santa Clara. Their losses varied from $1,619.50 in one county to over a third of a million dollars or $362,949.15 in another.

One county received an average of $93.19 per pupil, compared to the $30.00 average, and levied no county or district taxes at all for schools, subsisting entirely on state and federal funds. Compared to the twelve counties receiving less than $30, forty-six received more.

Commenting on the above findings, N. Bradford Trenham, secretary of the educational commission of California Taxpayers' association, says:

"California was hailed as a leader in educational finance when the present method of apportioning elementary school funds was instituted in 1921. Since then it has been amply demonstrated that the system is extremely inequitable and tends to defeat its own purpose.

"Students of educational administration and finance do not find fault with the principle of equalization of educational opportunity up to the minimum program. In fact, they encourage it. But a proper system would not accentuate already existing inequalities. A proper system would tend to iron out inequalities. The system in force frequently takes funds from already poor counties and adds them to more fortunate counties in point of taxable resources per capita.

"This is true because some counties of small wealth in proportion to population are penalized in favor of other counties with high per capita valuations. Furthermore the efficient counties with a lesser number of small districts are penalized in their progress toward de-

Mrs. I. Nesbitt Hurt In Crash

Mrs. Isabelle Nesbitt, 1602 Macdonald avenue, was slightly injured last night when she was struck by a machine at Nineteenth street and Macdonald avenue last night.

According to police reports, Mrs. Nesbitt was hit by a machine being driven by Mrs. T. A. Deatrich, 2822 Liberty street, El Cerrito.

Police reported that Mrs. Nesbitt, while attempting to get out of the path of the Deatrich machine, fell and was struck.

She was treated by Dr. L. A. Hedges for a bruise on her forehead.

Noon Concerts To Be Resumed Here

Miss Jean Moyle, local dramatic reader, will be guest artist at the first Thursday noon concert of the term to be held today at Longfellow Junior high school. The concert will begin at 12:15 o'clock and will be open to both the pupils and the public.

The concerts are under the direction of Mrs. Miriam Kiraly of the school faculty. The program will be given every second Thursday.

Native Sons Hold Meeting

Meeting last night at the Redmen's hall, the Richmond parlor of Native Sons laid plans for entering a team in the city basketball league this year.

W. M. Amaral was in charge of the meeting.

"Thorough study of state school finance and organization in California convinces one that school officials should seek a more equitable distribution of state funds and a more scientific organization of school districts before they ask the taxpayer to provide new sources of revenue or any additional revenue from present sources."

Speed Limits Abolished By Five States

Maximum speed limits were abolished in five states in 1929, while 12 states raised the limit with the object of speeding up traffic, according to reports received by the California State Automobile association. Indiana, Kansas, Tennessee, Vermont and Wisconsin now prescribe a speed that is "reasonable and proper." In effect this means that speed is not to be considered prima facie evidence of reckless driving, and such cases will be considered on their merits.

With improved highways and added safety qualities in motor cars, the tendency throughout the country has been to speed up traffic, and each year finds the legislatures of various states fostering proposals to abolish maximum speed laws.

States which increased their speed limits by action of the legislature during 1929 are: California, from 35 miles per hour to 40; Delaware, from 30 to 35; Illinois, from 35 to 45; Minnesota, from 35 to 45; Nebraska, from 35 to 45; Nevada, from 45 to 50; New Mexico, from 35 to 45; Ohio, from 35 to 40; Pennsylvania, from 35 to 40; South Dakota, from 25 to 40; Texas, from 35 to 45; and Virginia, from 35 to 45.

A total of eleven states do not prescribe maximum speed laws. These are: Connecticut, Florida, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Michigan, Montana, Tennessee, Vermont, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

The limits in other states range from 20 miles an hour in Massachusetts to 50 miles per hour in Nevada, with the majority of states placing the limit at between 35 and 45 miles an hour.

High Prepares For Tech Game

The line-crushing tactics that the Richmond Union high school varsity will use in tomorrow's battle with the Technical high school grid were partially displayed before an assembly of the entire school yesterday morning in the high school gymnasium.

Two squads composed of local high school athletes demonstrated several of their favorite plays by slow motion on the gym floor. Coaches Frank Ribbel and Philip Hempler explained the plays.

The new yell leaders of the high school Student Body also led the assembly in yells. The new yell leaders are Harman Jatta, Albert Schneider and William Young.

Tom Valinotti of East Richmond, was fined $100 yesterday when he appeared before Justice of the Peace Arthur Alstrom on a charge of possessing a still.

Valinotti pleaded guilty to the charge according to court records.

HISTORY OF SPIDER IS TOLD

LA JOLLA, Aug. 27.—An interesting life history of the "Trap-door Spider" has just been prepared by Prof. P. S. Barnhart, curator of the biological collection of the University of California Scripps Institution of Oceanography and is expected to soon be published. The little creature which covers a space about the size of a dime, has a scientific name of "Bothriocyrtum Californicum," and although it is quite prevalent in southern California it is not often observed because of its highly secretive habits and its queer mode of living.

The spider is found upon sloping hillsides, usually exposed to the sun where the soil bakes hard during the summer months and from which the vegetation quickly withers and dies after the end of the rainy season. It digs a nest into the ground on these exposed hillsides and closes the top of its hole or nest with a trap-door. The trap-door is fashioned of soil and web and is difficult to discern because its color exactly matches the surrounding ground.

Spider Stays In Nest After the nest is prepared it is seldom that the spider leaves it. The trap-door is hinged at the upper side of the nest, and the spider will open the door and remain for hours just within its doorway. But at the slightest sound of the approach of anything, the spider slams down the door and holds it closed. Professor Barnhart says it is amazing the amount of strength used in holding the door shut. He cites on instance a blade of his penknife was broken while he was trying to pry open one of these trap-doors.

The door once broken open, the spider retreats to the very bottom of its nest and will not emerge until it is sure danger is gone. And the spider will not attempt to reconstruct the broken door so long as it is daylight. It awaits the shield of night before it repairs the structure.

Hundred Are Hatched The female hatches about 100 young spiders within the nest and these are nurtured until they are of sufficient size to shift for themselves. Dr. Barnhart says it is difficult to find any of the male spiders and says he believes the male roams about at will, or else is killed and eaten by the female at the close of the mating period.

The spiders are valiant warriors and fight to the death. He placed two in one nest. The trap-door was pulled shut and he could not observe what happened but after a time he dug out the nest and found both spiders dead from their wounds. In another instance after a battle of two hours the trap-door opened and one dead spider was evicted. The victor was badly torn but managed to live.

Blue Wasp An Enemy This strange little creature has one enemy which apparently it cannot successfully combat. This enemy is the ordinary blue wasp. The wasp, observing an open trap-door, swoops down and stings the spider, stunning it. Then the wasp lays one egg in the nest and departs. The egg hatches and the grub devours the spider. Then the grub spins its cocoon and undergoes its metamorphosis under the protection of the trap door. A cross-section of the nest, showing the trap-door, has been preserved by Professor Barnhart and is on display in the museum at the Scripps institution.

DEVELOPMENT IN BAY AREA SEEN

The east bay region is facing a great new era of development in which the Key System lines will participate to a large degree.

This was the message yesterday by two representatives of the newly reorganized corporation who were guests of the chamber of commerce directors at their luncheon meeting at the Hotel Caquinez.

The men were F. H. Crosby, president of the newly reorganized Key Terminal Railways, and A. J. Lundborg, president of the East Bay Street Railways and the Key System Ltd.

They acted as hosts to a group of Richmond men who were brought from San Francisco on Crosby's yacht, skirting the waterfront and landing at the Richmond inner harbor.

Lundborg revealed that the transportation companies he represents have large plans for the immediate future.

"It has been said," he declared, "that mass transportation is in a bad way in this country, but in my opinion has been painted too black. The transportation problem is a vital one. It has got to be solved and it can be solved. Mass transportation can so reduce its costs and improve its efficiency as to develop and expand its system to a large degree, and that is just what is proposed in the case of the Key lines. That kind of transportation is here to stay, but it must adapt itself to changing conditions. It is our intention to make a complete success of the local system and to operate on a much wider basis than heretofore. It is my opinion that within the next few years you will see a surprising increase in the number of cars, engines and other equipment running over our lines. Naturally, Richmond will be in line to profit along with other cities in our development plans."

Crosby thanked the directors for the picture given him of Richmond development.

"Your growth has been truly remarkable," he said. "With deep water, power, industrial lands and a spirit of cooperation in the community, there is no reason why you should not realize all your dreams."

Fred D. Parr, head of the Parr-Richmond Terminal company, said son, E. B. Bull and P. M. Sanford, he believes Richmond is on the

BOY INJURED IN BATTLE WITH TIGER

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—UP—While 12-year-old Alfred Hill feebly attempted to free himself from the clutches of a ferocious Siberian tiger by stabbing it with a small pocket knife, an animal trainer shot and killed the tiger after the boy had been almost scalped.

Alfred was badly mangled about the head and lost much blood. A transfusion was given tonight in an effort to save his life.

The uneven battle between the boy and tiger came shortly after Alfred and three other small boys had crawled through a fence at Luna park and entered a "jungle" where part of the African picture "Ingagi" was filmed.

Despite a fact that "danger" signs had been posted around the enclosure the boys did not know that a sick and angry tiger had been placed in the corral to recuperate.

The lads crept through the bamboo forest shouting "boom" every few minutes as they engaged in a play animal hunt. The tiger heard the "boom" and soon made the hunt a realism.

Without a warning Alfred found himself pinned down under the leap of the tiger. With rare courage he jerked his knife from his pocket and attempted to save his life while the other boys ran shouting for help.

Trainers from a zoo a block away were attracted by the screams of boys. They ran to the scene with a high-powered rifle but hesitated to shoot as they and boy were changing positions with great rapidity as they struggled on the ground.

Finally the gun came to Melvin Koontz, a lion tamer, who decided to fire. One shot rolled the tiger into a death struggle and the boy was carried to a hospital.

After it was all over, lion trainer Koontz confessed that despite his apparent skill as a marksman he never had fired a gun before.

DON'T NAG—BOOST!

WHEN Isadore Minneshire was arrested the other day on the charge of feloniously assaulting his wife, Bessie, police say that he told them he had been out of work for a year and that she had scolded and nagged him continuously because he couldn't get a job. Finally, according to his story, something went wrong in his head and he is alleged to have stabbed Bessie with a carving knife, although only four months ago she became the mother of his child.

It is a tragic story, and neither human law nor conscience can excuse the husband. And yet—in this time of unemployment, other men may be driven to some form of desperation, if not to murderous attack, by probably unfair and certainly unwise nagging from their wives about not finding work.

What many an unemployed husband needs just now is not nagging but boosting. Any woman picking up this week's paper may read how five thousand persons out of work stamped the Free City Employment Bureau in one day, and how exactly one hundred and thirty-five jobs were found for this army. Can any fair-minded woman, then, consider that her husband is deliberately being idle, or dully incompetent, because he has lost his job and hasn't found another? Can any fair-minded woman feel justified in nagging him on these grounds? Can she possibly think—if she knows how to think—that her nagging serves any useful purpose?

HER position is difficult, if she is not herself earning and especially if she has children. Naturally, she worries about what will become of them, about how they can get fall clothes, or dental attention, or even enough nourishing food when no money is coming into the household.

But these worries also haunt every self-respecting father who is out of work. Joblessness is no treat to him when he has family responsibilities. To be fired, or even laid off, is no treat, anyhow. It affects the worker with a feeling of sick humiliation, an agony of self-doubt, an undermining of morale. Perhaps the young self-supporting woman, out of work during recent months, will have experienced this reaction so keenly that if, in later years, she marries a man who loses his job, she will stand by him better than some women are standing by unemployed husbands today.

To nag a man, desperately hunting for work, because he doesn't find it is often to sap his energy and confidence and so injure his chances of ultimate employment—in this day when "front" has so much to do with landing jobs. His wife's role should be that of booster, not nagger. The longer he has been out of a job, the more he needs a "kick" for his self-respect, for his belief in his own economic worth and ability. It is exactly this stimulus which his wife can help to supply—if she makes a point of telling him how good he is, of giving him affectionate praise and encouragement instead of blame and discouragement, of "bucking him up."

HARD? Of course, it's hard, when she herself is worried and depressed about the future. But if she loves him, if she believes in marriage as a loyal partnership, she must be a strong, warm, steady partisan of him against a world of unappreciative employers. She must feed his pride, energy, persistence with her own love and faith and admiration, instead of depleting him with pin-pricks of scorn and criticism.

When all's well with a husband, a certain amount of wifely pin-pricking does him good. It deflates the bubbles of his egotism. When, on the other hand, he is worried and desperate, a nagging pin-prick is a stab at heart and courage, a stab as cruel as it is inexpedient.

What many a husband, out of work just now, needs most is not a critic on the hearth but a wife who is a cheer-leader!

Continued low price of beef has brought joy to the hearts of many housewives. In homes where the family budget would permit only an occasional round steak or chuck roast a few months ago, sirloin is now being served.

In cooking beef en casserole during the winter, canned tomatoes can be substituted, but now that the fresh ones are plentiful in the market, it is better to use them, as they make the casserole more attractive in appearance.

BEF EN CASSEROLE

2 pounds round or flank steak
4 large tomatoes
2 onions
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper

2 tablespoons lemon juice
4 tablespoons olive oil
1/2 cup bread or cracker crumbs

Cut the steak in pieces about two inches square, rub them with salt and pepper, and sprinkle them with oil and lemon juice. Put a layer of pieces of steak in a casserole and cover with thin slices of onion, then the rest of the onion and tomato. Cover the top with bread crumbs. Place in a moderate oven, and bake for two hours.

Modernizing the Home

By Alma Zais

THESE ADAPTABLE MODERN KITCHENS ARE ADAMANTLY SUITED TO SMALL APARTMENT ROOMS.

Dear Miss Zais: Inclosed is a sketch of the apartment we are planning to rent, and I should greatly appreciate any advice you could give me in regard to the selection of furniture. And perhaps you will be kind enough to suggest the best possible arrangement.

I want to purchase a few really good, adaptable modern pieces. We have about $1,000 to spend on the room, including drapes, decoration, etc. If the furniture is a neutral gray or beige, I should want the walls in a soft green or soft peach or coral with a silver note in picture frames, mirrors or lamps. I want the general tone of the room to be warm and cozy. It must look inviting. There are studio windows. What arrangement could I have for drapes? The room is to be furnished as a living room, of course, and as this is to be our very first home we want to do all we possibly can to make it beautiful and comfortable. Thanking you, I am

Select Furniture That Will Grow With the Home

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

WHILE the one-room apartment with two-door beds and the popular and most convenient dressing closet is a delight to the modern soul . . . on the question of furnishing one needs to exercise care in several directions. First comes the thing. There are a number of things to be considered. Will each piece of furniture chosen be just as good ten years from now—and in larger quarters—as it is in the present room? Next the question of convenience. Will the pieces bought and the groups planned be convenient in size, weight and location so that little effort will be required to move them about when making ready for the night? For we shall want the living room-bedroom to be just as neat and attractive when we lie down to pleasant dreams and open our eyes in the morning as it is at any other hour of the day.

The diagram shows a plan of arrangement that suggests furniture that will give balance to Mrs. G's room during its more formal hours and will not be difficult to move at night when the beds are down. In the foyer there might be a shallow console, chest or card table with a mirror or picture above and a good lamp on top. Two straight chairs similar to those used in the living room may be placed against the opposite wall. Or, if a modern scheme is preferred, instead of the familiar console, it would be very interesting to use a combination telephone stand, desk and console with a chair that fits into the compartment and gives the effect of one piece of furniture. A cleverly designed piece of this type is illustrated.

In the living room the great double doors of the bed and linen closets call for at least one tall piece of furniture of sufficient character to minimize their presence in the room. Thus a good secretary desk would seem a wise choice for the long wall opposite the closets. Or, if a modern scheme is chosen, one of the smart modern cabinet desks with shelves and niches, such as the one illustrated in the special home-furnishing section of Aug. 6 would be suitable. In either case it would be best to use before the desk a chair well as a few odd books or magazines.

The big easy chair to the left of the table could be a wing chair with a fairly high back and a high-backed Windsor or spindle-back chair with arms would be good for the other side. The equivalent of these two types can be found in excellent modern designs. If that form of decoration is adopted, at either side of the windows there is room for a shallow bookcase, a bookcase and radio, or a bookcase and a small rectangular table with a picture above it to balance the taller piece.

In this room we would not have a full-sized sofa. It is not needed for seating or as a bed and anything over five feet in length would overbalance the window group just opposite. A short sofa in the position indicated with a very low coffee table before it, seems to give nice variety and a comfortable lounging seat and later on it will make a useful piece before the fireplace in the larger home.

On the other side of the room just beyond the right-hand closet door we have a fairly large table, which may be either circular or square. It will hold a lamp and need not be moved at night. The chair chosen to the left should be deep-seated and comfortable, but not too heavy to be moved easily. It will be in constant use for reading and is in good position to welcome one of several guests who may want to chat with others elsewhere in the room. To the left of the bed closet is a small stand that may serve as a booktable by day and a night stand at other times. A type with drop leaves and one or two drawers would fill all requirements.

In the dressing closet we cannot do very much in the way of furnishing beyond providing storage space

The Motto Stages a Comeback

Did you ever do any cross-stitch embroidery—the kind that is every bit as attractive as petit point and looks as much like it that the difference is virtually nil?

Try it out on a square of black or soft-toned brown velvet for a foot-stool or on squares of linen for your bridge set, choosing simple designs. And since mottoes are back in the running—did you know that they are a fad now?—they too are done in cross-stitch and are a delight to do and to own. They are done on scrim, which can be stretched over cardboard and properly framed.

Appropos of mottoes, there were all sorts of sentiments, led in popularity by God Bless Our Home. Two others which had a wide appeal, judging from their frequent appearance, were not in cross-stitch, however, but one, painted on the dresser mirror, declared, "I give back smile for smile and, alas, frown for frown;" the other, over the fireplace, usually burned in the wood of the mantel, "Old books to read, a fire to cheer; old wood to burn and old friends near."

Strange, isn't it, that so many of these old ideas should suddenly be called upon to serve another generation. Those who have any of the things that only a few years ago were tolerantly viewed as naïvely old-fashioned and put away in the attic, are bringing them forth again and giving them a place, although in many an instance they seem incongruous among ultra-modern things. Friendly ghosts they are to the elders; to the younger generation they have no significance, while to the youthful they must seem like little left-over old ladies set among a gathering of debutantes.

paper shading from pale to deeper coral or apricot in a design that is traced with silver lines. This works out very well with beige woodwork, a beige carpet, draperies of shaded fabric running through lovely warm brown tones, and accessories emphasizing notes of emerald green.

The sofa could have a tailored cover of the shaded fabric, or upholstering of medium brown velvet. The two easy chairs might be upholstered in Rodier fabrics in tones of beige; the smaller chair in brown and beige checks. Basket and material and seats of straight chairs in deep emerald green moire. A green glass bowl with Chinese lotus leaves on the table, green and a touch of red in the pattern. Seats of the small chairs would be best in red, or a small figured material in which red is predominant.

For the modern scheme, soft coral or apricot walls would give a warmer effect than the green Mrs. G. suggests. And papered walls would be more pleasing than a painted surface. There is one very lovely modern

DORR SHOWING NEW AUSTIN HERE

Announcement was made here of the appointment of Roy K. Dorr as dealer for the bantam Austin car in Richmond. The bantam Austin will be on display at Ely's and Bissell where the show rooms of the local concern are located.

The bantam Austin is acclaimed everywhere as the swiftest bit of transportation ever offered the American motoring public.

"Every motor minded man, woman and child will be anxious to examine and ride in this car," says Roy K. Dorr.

Shown Here

Introduced in San Francisco July 20, the Austin drew a crowd that shattered all first showing records, and during the five weeks since have continued to attract thousands of interested spectators daily. Reports of similar receptions have been received from all parts of the country where the bantam has been shown.

The bantam Austin represents a medium of transportation entirely new to the American motoring public, and yet on which, judging from the ovation which it has received, fills a very definite need. Its wheelbase is only 75 inches—28 inches less than that of any other standard American car. The tread is 16 inches narrower than is customary. In height the car comes only to the shoulder of the average man, and yet it boasts a ground clearance of 8 3/4 inches.

Probably most important is the Austin's economy. Gasoline consumption is well over 40 miles to the gallon. The five-pint filling of oil will lubricate the engine for 1000 miles. And tire mileage runs from 20,000 to 40,000 miles.

Low Cost

The result is an operating cost for gas, oil and tires of less than three-fourths of a cent per mile. This means that two people can take a 600-mile trip, at a total running cost of $3.75. In other words, the Austin is without doubt the cheapest form of transportation in the world.

The bantam Austin literally runs on pennies. Forty miles to a gallon of gas, 20,000 to 40,000 miles to a set of tires, make possible an operating cost for gas, oil and tires of less than three-fourths of a cent per mile.

Sixteen inches narrower and 28 inches shorter than any standard car now in production in the United States, the swanky little new-comer promises to occupy the same position in American motoring that its cousin abroad now occupies on the leading motorways of the world.

The new bantam Austin rests on a wheelbase of six feet, three inches. Its tread is three feet, four inches. Its total width is only four feet, four inches. These dimensions give the bantam car exceptional maneuverability in heavy traffic and allow it to dart into places where other cars fear to tread. Its ground clearance of eight and three eighths inches is ample for all American roads. Nor is the bantam at all touchy about its weight, a tender spot with many of its sister machines. On the contrary, it boasts of the fact that its total weight is only 1130 pounds.

The bantam car comes to solve the entire problem of waste transportation, waste carrying space, waste power, waste speed and waste operating costs. It represents the most economical form of automotive transportation offered to the American public.

JAMES ROLPH JR. CONCEDED NOMINATION FOR GOVERNOR

for Young, and the result was inevitable," Randall admitted. "A conference of the dry and pro-temperance leaders of the state will be called to the end that a candidate may be selected who is representative of the overwhelming dry army which split its vote between Young and Pitts."

Randall suggested that the candidate chosen at such a meeting might be William G. McAdoo, former secretary of treasury, or Harlan G. Palmer, Hollywood publisher.

In the event such a suggestion should be carried out, Rolph would probably receive his greatest opposition from the independent candidate. Otherwise the nomination is virtually tantamount to election since Republicans in California who apparently chose Rolph as their leader far outnumber Democrats. Milton K. Young was unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

Official Count

Rumors that an official recount of the votes might alter the totals somewhat became widespread late today but could not be confirmed. The vote in Los Angeles county was mentioned particularly. William M. Kerr, registrar of voters in that county, said, however, that while the count was unofficial he felt it was not enough percentage of error to change the general trend of it.

Governor Young was leading both opponents in a vast majority of the 58 counties in the state but they were practically all small ones and were counteracted by the heavy vote in Metropolitan centers. Young was leading in 40 counties, Rolph in 14 and Pitts four.

Nearly three-fourths of Pitts' total vote had been secured in Los Angeles county while Rolph, running closely behind the present governor in all 40 counties, the latter was capturing, had amassed a total of about 34,000 votes more than Young in San Francisco county and 67,000 more than Pitts here.

Young Scored

Governor Young had not conceded the nomination to Rolph, favored throughout the west as "Sunny Jim" and mayor of San Francisco for more than 18 years. Friends of the governor contended that the fact that Milton K. Young's name had been placed on the ballots as a candidate for the Republican nomination was well as for the Democratic endorsement had cut materially into the total of the governor. It was contended by them that estimates showed more than 25,000 registered Republicans had voted for Milton K. Young through confusion of names. Nonpartisans offered the theory that a number of Democrats had registered as Republicans to vote for other state officers than governor and had cast their votes for the acknowledged Democrat on the Republican slate.

The fact that Rolph had gained more than two thirds of his total votes in the largest counties of the state indicated to political observers that the wet and dry issue had played a greater part in the primary than had been expected.

BEACH SLAYING BAFFLES POLICE

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 27.—UP—California and Mexican police officers tonight joined forces in an effort to establish a motive for the slaying of Lois Marion Kentie, 23, and her fiancé, Francis Conlon, 24-year old paint store manager, who were stabbed to death Monday night on a swimming beach at Escondido, popular Mexican pleasure resort below the California border.

While the Mexican authorities worked on the theory that some peon or outlaw murdered the couple for the valuables they carried, San Diego and Los Angeles officers attempted to learn if the killing was an aftermath of a love tangle involving the young sweethearts and a third man.

Both theories were being pushed forward under difficulty as few clues and a little money carried by the victims was not disturbed in the tent near where the bodies were found yesterday morning and the girl's mother, Mrs. Mary Kentie, wealthy Los Angeles woman, declared her daughter and Conlon had no enemies.

It was believed by Mrs. Kentie that some thief murdered her daughter and Conlon and was frightened away before he could secure his loot.

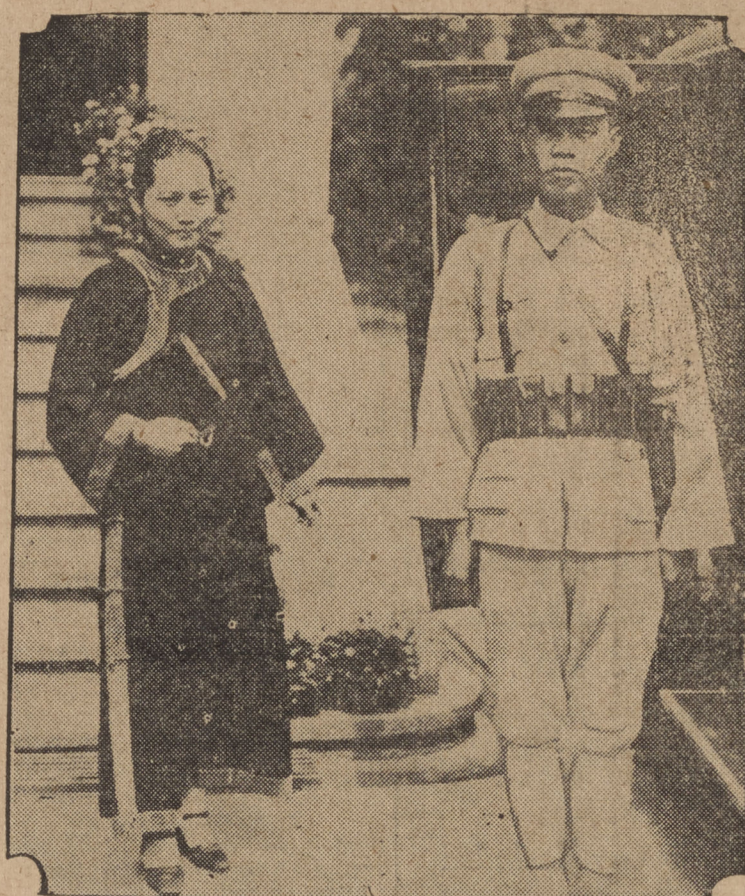

Against this theory police pointed out that the attack was so ferocious that some motive other than robbery must have prompted the killings. Conlon was stabbed 11 times and Miss Kentie suffered seven knife wounds.

The bodies of the girl and the youth were brought to San Diego today by a party headed by Fred Farquier, manager of the paint company for which Conlon was a branch manager.

Sheriff Faces Liquor Charges

WENATCHEE, Wash., Aug. 27.—UP—Peter Wheeler, sheriff of Chelan county for the past three years, today was served with a bench warrant charging him with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws and with interfering with the movement of justice.

The warrant came as an aftermath to indictments in Spokane recently, charging peace officers with violating the prohibition laws.

Wheeler furnished $5000 bond and was released from custody.

George Servel, deputy sheriff, was served with a similar warrant and was attempting to obtain $5000 for his bond.

Three other agents for whom warrants were issued by Judge Samuel Webster were Fred Leamer, Frank Patz and Ray Hunsgrude.

Sheriff Wheeler has lived in Chelan county for 45 years and is widely known.
